CURING A SHIRKER.

SUMMARY PUNISHMENT VISITED ON A LAZY MAN

IN CAMP.

From The Philadelphia Times.

An old Civil War veteron tells a good story of how a lazy private in his regiment was cured of shirking. It appears that the fellow was utterly no good. He had been drafted into service, and thereafter devoted his whole lime and attention to getting out of it. He spent more than half of his time in the hospital tent. He can the gamut of all the diseases that flesh is helr to or has negatived through its own misguided efforts. Somshow, even the severity of military discipline was insalegnate to his case; shirk he could and would.

One day the regiment was ordered to battle. There was to be a long, hard march, and a flerce conflict at the end of it. When the orders came the shirker collapsed. He was taken to an ambulance, where he lay apparently in a comatose condition, hearing nothing, heading nothing. The surgeon, a new officer just appointed on the staff, was sent for to see him. The physician chanced to be a keen-witted man, and after taking in the situation, he bandinged the fellow's eyes, motioned to a private to take his feet, while he himself took the head, and without more ado dumped the comatose hinker head-foremost into the river. As it was the dead of winter, with he blocks clogging the water, a more violent remedy could not be imagined, and the way the fellow swam to shore was a caution. From that day forth he was never known to try his game of shirk again.

The 24 Cavalry arrived from Mobile just before the army sailed.

It was estimated at headquarters that the transports carried 25,200 men. There were twenty-seven regiments of infantry.
